Sudder Street

Situated between Indian Museum on Jawaharlal Nehru Road and the Fire Brigade Headquarters on Mirza Ghalib Street, Sudder Street is the place where a large number of visitors to Kolkata prefer to stay. The presence of several budget accommodation options, cheap eateries, foreign currency exchange places and travel agencies are some of the reasons why visitors like to stay here. The street is situated in the heart of the city and New Market, where you get just about everything (and at very cheap rates if you know how to bargain), is only about 50 metres from Sudder Street.

Budget go-to tip:

From airport: Take the air-conditioned bus to Esplanade. Get down at New Market and walk for five minutes

From Howrah station: Take the C bus. Get down at the last stop - Park Street - and walk for five minutes. You can also take one of the several other buses that pass through Park Street

From Sealdah station: Take any bus heading to Esplanade and walk for 5 minutes
